

That's another shot

taken after about one minute of running the analyzer in peak hold mode. So it gives the maximum signal obtained within this time per frequency interval (25 Hz). It even more clear shows the relatively low IMD on the upper side band. Congrats !!

